WEATHERBEE IS UNDER ARREST

Fourth Suspect in Faus Murder Case in Jail at Richfield

RICHFIELD, Feb. 23.—Charles F. Weatherbee, arrested at Monroe in connection with the Faus murder case in jail at Richfield today. Among papers found in his pockets was a letter written by him addressed to a girl named Vida.

There was no address on this letter. In it Weatherbee declared to the girl that he had no hand in the Faus murder and pleaded with her to believe him. He declared in the letter his intention of returning to Salt Lake to prove that he was in. Mr. Weatherbee was arrested on the night of February 2. He advised the girl to address his letters to Charles Miller, Monroe, Utah.

Weatherbee is a mere boy, smooth of face, rather short, but stout of build. He looks anything but a hardened criminal. He speaks good English, and tells an apparently straight story. He said he is 22 years of age, although his discharge papers placed his age as 18 at the time of his enlistment at Fort Logan, Colo., August 20, 1920. He said he was born at Reno, N. M., but his parents now live in the east. He was discharged from the army at Fort Douglas November 4, 1921.

Two weeks later he obtained employment at the Dahl hotel, where he worked for a month or six weeks. Since that time he had been out of work. He could not find any other work. He had been in Salt Lake, at times he had roomed with him. He last saw Donnell either on January 23, 30 or 31, he said, and the latter told him he was going up to the fort, where the soldiers were being paid, and that he would either borrow money from friends or collect some due him. Weatherbee also knew Brighton slightly, but had never been intimate with him.

TOLD OF PLANS. "Donnell," Weatherbee said, "told me once that if certain plans he and Brighton had made were successful, he would have plenty of money before long. He did not say what the plans were, and I had no idea he meant any holdup business."

Asked as to his reason for leaving Salt Lake he said he met a man named Johnny third infant, who he said, and the latter told him he was going to Salt Lake, where there was a good opening for an amateur boxer.

DONNELL ARRIVES. SALT LAKE, Feb. 23.—Roy E. Donnell, charged with being implicated with Gilbert L. Brighton and Angelina Vaca in the murder of Charles A. Faus on the night of Feb. 2, arrived in Salt Lake yesterday in custody of Sheriff C. Frank Emery from San Bernardino, Cal. Jack Stroud, wanted as an accessory after the fact, was also returned with Donnell.

Donnell, who confessed to having fired the shot that killed Faus, was to be arraigned today before City Judge Ben Johnson on the charge of first degree murder.

Charles F. (Chick) Weatherbee, wanted as a possible accessory in the crime, was arrested yesterday at Monroe, Sevier county, by Sheriff Angus Fillmore. He is to be brought to Salt Lake in the immediate future.

ACCUSED TO PLEAD. Brighton's preliminary hearing has been set for March 15. Angelina Vaca has asked for a separate trial. Donnell told County Attorney Arthur E. Moreton yesterday that it made no difference to him when he entered his plea and the county attorney will ask to have the case set for the first open date in March.

DEPUTY GOES TO COAST FOR GREEN

'WHY?' BORAH ASKS GOVERNOR

Idaho Executive Wires to Hold Up Forest Reserve Exchange Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Senator Borah has telegraphed Governor D. W. Davis of Idaho, asking him to set forth his reasons for requesting the president to hold up house bill No. 77, the Clearwater-St. Joe-Selway forest reserve exchange bill. Recently the Idaho governor sent an urgent message to Senator Borah requesting that the bill be held up and while Senator Borah has complied with the request he now asks that the governor immediately produce his reasons for wanting to defeat the legislation.

In proffering his request Governor Davis has asked that the bill be reviewed carefully by the Idaho delegation in congress; was passed through its efforts, and in addition a bill unqualifiedly endorsed by the secretary of agriculture and secretary of interior, and by Gifford Pinchot, former forester.

By inference, Governor Davis accuses the Idaho delegation of having secured the passage by congress of a bill that should not have been passed, and the governor must now make good on his insinuation, or he will hear in no uncertain terms from the Idaho delegation at Washington.

He avoided an open breach with the delegation only by reason of having sent his protest through Senator Borah, instead of direct to the president.

Crawford Moore of Boise, who indicated the fight on this bill, when called to Washington and compelled with the proponents of the bill to lay all the cards on the table, withdrew his opposition to the measure and went home. Before leaving he admitted that there was nothing in the bill and expressed his consent to its passage. Now the governor has rushed to the front in opposition to the bill, and he is expected to set forth by telegram his objections to the measure.

Unless Governor Davis knows something that has not yet been brought to the attention of the Idaho delegation, the delegation will stand pat, and will ask that the president sign the bill. Governor Davis neglected to telegraph any member of the Idaho delegation except Senator Borah, and what is more, according to delegation gossip, Governor Davis did not make any protest while the bill was pending in congress during the past year or more, but waited until after the bill had passed both houses.

Carl R. Marcussen spoke briefly with reference to the request of the farmers to reduce the school expenses so that taxes could be reduced. He promised his earnest co-operation in the interest of economy.

PEACE DECISION SATISFIES ERIN

London Newspapers Puzzled and Cabinet Placed in Awkward Position

DUBLIN, Feb. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—General satisfaction seems to be felt in southern Ireland over Wednesday's surprise decision of the Ard Fheis for a three month's adjournment at the end of which the people will be asked to vote on a constitution as well as on the Anglo-Irish treaty.

This opinion is not unanimous, however. Many heartily endorse the convention's gratification at the preservation of the Sinn Fein's unity, but some staunch supporters of the treaty are disappointed and inclined to agree with John McEntee's declared opinion that "the agreement was clearly a Republican victory."

One question much discussed in some quarters in what is going to happen to the treaty bill now before the Imperial parliament, which it is contended is shattered to a great extent by the Ard Fheis decision.

HELD GOOD AUGURY. The correspondent of the Freeman's Journal writes: "The fact that the leaders of both parties were able to rise above their differences and seek ground for agreement may be taken, one hopes, as a good augury for the future. De Valera's attitude toward an appeal to the people at this stage brought the question of a general election to the forefront as the main issue at the private conference."

"One may imagine that Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins were not convinced by argument that this was either an unwise or undesirable course, and they had it would seem, to sink their personal views for the sake and in the hope of unity."

The new agreement will certainly take away the slightest vestige of justification from the offices of the south Tipperary brigade whose proclamation against the dail and their own general headquarters caused a sensation Wednesday as a step toward anarchy."

NEWSPAPER PUZZLED. LONDON, Feb. 23.—(By the Associated Press.)—London newspapers seem puzzled today over the unexpected outcome of the Ard Fheis convention. Some condemn the arrangement by which the Irish elections are put off for three months, while others regard it as a matter affecting principally the Irish voters.

Some papers which have insisted on the necessity for an immediate settlement raise no objection to the postponement.

The Times says the unexpected decision disappoints the supporters of the Anglo-Irish treaty and believes all those who wish lasting peace in Ireland will regret the decision. The Morning Post says that the Irish Republican army controls the situation, that the postponement flouts the treaty bill now before the Imperial parliament and is a victory for De Valera.

CABINET PERPLEXED. The Daily Chronicle, the government organ, thinks it a great sacrifice for Michael Collins to agree to postpone to wait three months for the popular mandate, that it is a great loss to Ireland that its constitution should be delayed by the Irish people and a genuine movement toward unity and good will.

The Westminster Gazette thinks if the two parties in the Sinn Fein are satisfied with the agreement, outside observers ought to welcome it. It understood the members of the cabinet were surprised and somewhat perplexed. The Irish bill is expected to enter the committee stage on Monday next, and the government expects the third reading next week.

SNOW BENEFICIAL TO STOCK RANGES. SALT LAKE, Feb. 23.—Four and one-half inches of snow fell in Salt Lake during the storm which blew up Tuesday evening and lasted until noon yesterday, according to the records of the Salt Lake weather bureau.

The storm covered the intermountain section generally, extending as far south as central Utah.

The additional snow will be beneficial to livestock ranges, as previous snow had melted rapidly in the lower elevations and had disappeared largely from the fields and highways. The weekly weather, crop and range bulletin for Utah, issued by the Salt Lake bureau, states that livestock has improved in places and is in fairly good condition, although range feed is scarce in some sections and some thin stock are reported. The range is reported excellent in southeastern counties.

SEPARATE 'DRY' BUREAU DESIRED

Movement to Co-ordinate Activities Gains Favor in Washington

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—A movement to establish a prohibition bureau as a separate enforcing agency, distinct from any of the departments seems to be gaining in favor in official circles. Legislation to this end, it was said, might be introduced in congress in connection with the consideration of the proposed scheme for the reorganization of departments of the government.

It has been generally understood that under the proposed reorganization plan the prohibition unit would be transferred from the treasury to the justice department, but advocates of a separate bureau believe that the administration of the dry law does not come properly under either of these departments.

Prohibition, it was explained, involves four main features—permission, collection, enforcement and prosecution, all of which it was contended, do not come properly within the prescribed bureau of any of the departments. Collection of taxes is a treasury function, it was stated, and the prosecution of cases come under the justice department but the administration of the other features of the law governing the manufacture and sale of alcohol and liquor for legal purposes and the actual enforcement of prohibition, it is felt, are duties distinct from the provinces of either.

Transfer of prohibition to the justice department, according to some officials, would give the latter department as many unusual functions as the treasury now has, while the creation of a separate agency would comprise the control of prohibition activities for every operation.

Both Secretary Mellon and Attorney General Daugherty, it is believed, would not disfavor such a step.

ONE OUT OF SIX AUTOS LICENSED

SALT LAKE, Feb. 23.—Only approximately one car in every six in the state, or a total of 7201, has so far been licensed for 1922, according to an announcement made by H. E. Crockett, secretary of state. The clerical force of the automobile division of the department was at work all day yesterday bringing the mail issue of licenses up to date. At the close of the day the high number in the passenger car licenses issued was 14,217, and the high number of trucks 2,384.

There are four more business days in February for the issuance of automobile licenses. Beginning with March 1 the 1922 license plates will be out of date, and it will be unlawful to operate an automobile on the highways of Utah without a license. There are possibly 15,000 pairs of license plates still to be issued. The office force will be increased and has already had several additions and will be capable of issuing several thousand licenses a day, and probably will have no delay.

Something like 1000 licenses were issued yesterday, according to R. Chesire, Jr., in charge of the division of the work of Mr. Crockett's office. This is the record so far this year, and was in part due, Mr. Chesire adds, to the fact that while some additional operations are required in handling the work of the department, yesterday without any interruptions such as occur when part of the receipts are over the counter.

At 98, Volunteer Fireman Directs Parade With 'Pep'

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Wearing on one side of his head the highly polished leather helmet of his former grandeur, Rudolf Lott, 98 years old, led his brother veterans of the Brooklyn volunteer fire fighters in parade Wednesday.

Lott was a figure of patriotism. Pinned on the breast of his red flannel jerkin was a picture of George Washington and atop of his pick-up hat was a miniature Old Glory. And besides that he had plenty of "pep," that lively element that in his fire fighting days was known as "Ginger."

Behind him in the line were George Tilt and John Flanagan, each nearing 95, and their senior marcher good naturedly chided them for being so slow.

The "regiment"—the youngest man was 75—plodded on to the end of the three mile route and cheered like doughboys when the stars and stripes were raised on a speaker's platform.

BANK TO REOPEN DOORS AT WELLS

SALT LAKE, Feb. 23.—The doors of the Bank of Wells, Nev., which were recently closed by the Nevada state bank examiner, will reopen shortly, according to Gilbert L. Ross, state bank examiner of Nevada, who was in Salt Lake yesterday.

When the bank was taken over Mr. Ross said, it had more than the required legal reserves, but a considerable part of its assets were not liquid. The reorganization plans are about completed.

The bank will open with a capital of $25,000. It formerly had $50,000 capital, and there will be absolutely no loss to depositors. While the bank was not forced to close, Mr. Ross explained yesterday, it was thought best to take it over and reorganize it. It is the only bank troubled by Nevada has experienced in ten years, Mr. Ross said.

NONPARTISANS LEARN LESSON

Townley Says Playing One Party Against Other Is Way to Win

LINCOLN, Neb. Feb. 23.—In a speech which occupied three hours, A. C. Townley, national president, told the Nebraska Nonpartisan league state convention here Wednesday that the tactics now pursued by the league make impossible any lasting or substantial victory, and that until the fight can be shifted from the league itself nothing can be won. He said the thing to do is to play practical politics.

He said he was forced to this conclusion by the fact that in the first place, the league cannot win those offices, candidly, if they do win them they cannot hold them, and that lastly, too many rasicals and incompetents were put into office by the league.

He said the league began its existence by saying it would have no dealings with the politicians. "It went out in the woods and got some mighty green timber, some of which afterwards proved pretty rotten and tried to train it to play politics against professionals."

FORMER UTAH BISHOP SPEAKS

Paul Jones Says Church Must Abandon Attitude of 'Spiritual Snobbery'

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—The church must abandon its "attitude of spiritual snobbery" before it can hope to dispense the social gospel to the workers, Bishop Paul Jones, secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, New York, said Wednesday in an address before the council of cities of the Methodist Episcopal church.

"When the church abandons its attitude of spiritual snobbery," he said, "in which it imagines it can put over something in the industrial field by doing something for the workers and thus winning their gratitude and allegiance and begins in humility to seek ways of working with them in the establishment of sound economic relations, so that everyday work of the world may be a field for the expression of real brotherhood, we will have found the solution of the problem."

"The church, by abandoning the protection of property values which now characterizes our political life, can, if it has faith enough to seek the kingdom of God first, join the ranks of those who put human relationship first and lose itself in seeking the life of the world. It will then not only dispense the social gospel, perhaps, but better, it will live it."

C. H. Schumacher, said to have worked as an organizer out of Wisconsin for the Nonpartisan league and whom the legion sued following an address before a labor meeting here several months ago, in which Schumacher was quoted as having said the legion was "unjustified" in its interference and was opposed to organized labor. Judgment was reserved, Schumacher failing to appear in court.

"We will not try to collect a cent," said William R. Richie, Jr., legion commander, who filed the suit, which was for $100,000. "The only thing we were interested in was to clear the legion of the charges."
